ROSE CITY Rollers
Portland, Oregon

Right column description

I worked with a creative team composed of talented Portland artists and roller derby players to produce this full-length comic book, which has since been sold at roller derby events and through physical and online retail outlets.
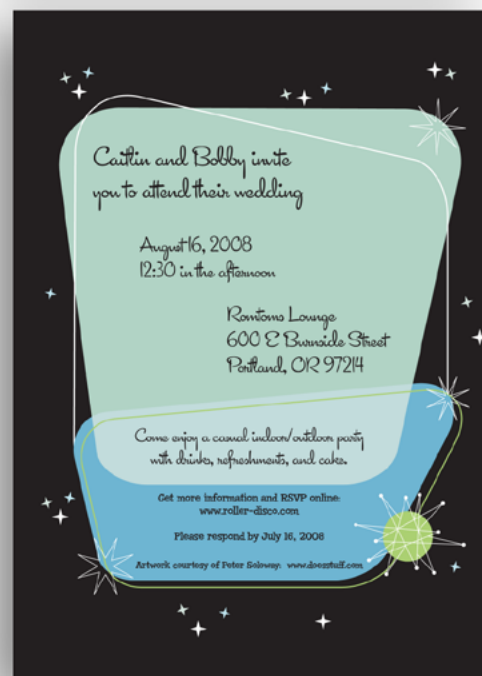

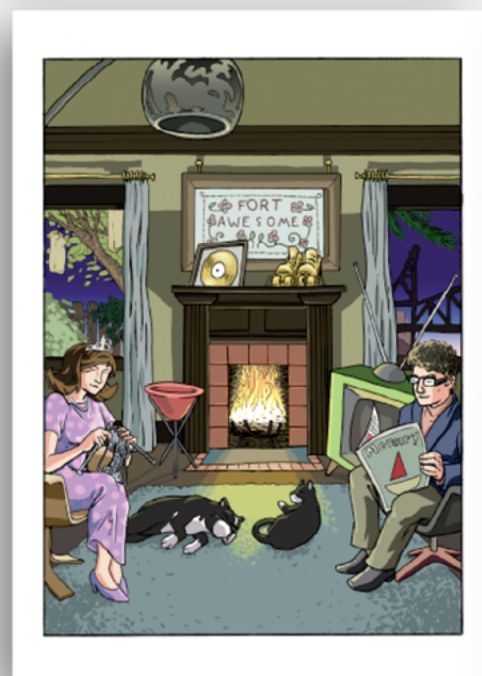

- Contributed colorwork to one of four story segments

- Provided page design for an expository article and a table of contents/credits page (seen left.)

- Made prepress adjustments to 32 pages of artwork and advertising to match colors and accomodate printer's bleed and trapping requirements.

- Supervised book design, including content order, page numbering, artwork touchups, and a technique for including an alternate cover design within a single print run.
